

We are writing to you regarding a current study we, a team of researchers from universities in Queensland and New South Wales, are conducting that we hope is of interest to you. All health practitioners in Queensland with prescribing rights for antibiotics are welcome to participate.

We have received funding through the Queensland Sexual Health Research Fund (Queensland Health) to better understand how different populations, including practitioners, perceive preventative treatments for bacterial sexually transmissible infections (STIs) through prophylactic use of antibiotics.

The QR code and link below will lead to a website with further information about the survey. It will take less than 10 minutes to participate in the survey. Participation is completely anonymous. Please feel free to forward this invitation to colleagues who might be interested in participating in this study.
